Kennedy Presses For Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., urged President Johnson Saturday to invite Viet Nam negotiators on the basis of accepting some Communists in a coalition Saigon government. Calling for limited use of U. S. military power, Kennedy said any effort to destroy the "obstacles and forces" of North Viet Nam probably would result in massive Chinese intervention in the war.

The brother of the late President John F. Kennedy, expressed some reservations about the course Johnson is pursuing. He said, for example, that he has such reservations about the resumption of the bombing of North Viet Nam because it is a sure sign of its limitations and objectives.

Kennedy, who is not a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and thus has not shared in its televised hearing made his views known at a news conference.

The committee wound up its public sessions Friday with an invitation from Secretary of State Dean Rusk to Congress to vote on Viet Nam policy. "If there is any doubt" about it, Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark, said he sees no need for further public hearings. The committee is to decide at a Monday meeting whether to ask Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to appear at a closed session. Both have declined to testify publicly.

The major focus of the policy dispute shifts to the Senate floor where the administration's $4.8-billion Viet Nam military authorization bill.

AFL-CIO Officials Threaten Administration With "War"

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — AFL-CIO officials said Saturday their political guerrilla assaults on the Johnson administration will escalate into "a major war" unless Johnson backs labor's minimum wage demands in Congress. Sources close to AFL-CIO President George Meany said "there is going to be a major war" if Johnson goes along with the proposal of his Council of Economic Advisors to increase the present $1.25 minimum wage to no more than $1.40 this year and $1.50 in 1970.

The 15-million-member labor federation, which has long demanded a $2 minimum wage, will settle for no less than $1.40 next year and $1.75 in 1970, they said.

And even if Johnson does support labor, political strategists of the AFL-CIO predict a bruising fight in Congress over minimum wage and unemployment compensation bills that will make the recent union shop battle pale by comparison. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen successfully blocked the union shop bill. He "now smells blood," said a top federal political expert, and may filibuster any minimum wage and unemployment compensation bills that will make the recent union shop battle pale by comparison.

Whether Johnson fights and wins for labor on those two bills will determine whether he is organized labor's chief Democratic supporter in the 1968 election — takes a political walk in the 1968 presidential campaign, the sources said.

Union leaders at their midwinter meetings here already are threatening to cut back money contributions to some Democrats in this year's congressional elections. This could cost Johnson substantial losses in the big edge the Democrats now have in Congress. AFL-CIO officials said there is a major split in the Johnson administration over the amount of the proposed minimum wage increase and that "we don't know which side Johnson is on."

The labor spokesmen said White House economists want to apply to the minimum wage increase that says wages likely above 3.2 percent a year are inflationary.

Plows Widen Snowy Road To Ski Resort

A rotary snowplow was used Thursday and Friday for the first time this winter to clear heavy snow accumulations from the Magic Mountain Ski Resort access road.

The Twin Falls Highway District snowplow crew widened the treacherous snow-choked, single-lane roadway to provide for two-lane traffic.

The area has nearly four feet of snow, which means the plow crew of the rotary snowplow, permitting crews to throw the snow off the roadway.

The two-day effort was the fourth time the highway district has plowed the road. Normally, Claude Jones, operator of the rotary snowplow, said, "the snow is so heavy now, as snow is merely shoved into a ridge at the edge of the roadway."

The three men crew included Don Hart, Evan Coates and William Whitten, all Twin Falls.

Chains or snow tires are advised for skiers traveling to the resort.

Friday afternoon there was an automobile stuck in the deep snow on the west side of the road in the vicinity of Rickenbacker Spring. It apparently had been abandoned after an attempt to get it out without success.

The license on the car was issued to Jeffrey D. Johnson, Hazelton.

Subdistricting Plan Seeks to Be Key to Realigning

BOISE (AP) — Drafting of an acceptable plan for subdistricting legislative Saturday to be the key agreement on a plan for reapportioning Idaho's legislature in the special session, now a week old. Both the House and Senate were in recess and few legislators returned at the Capitol. The lawmakers will return Monday to resume their efforts to draft an apportioning plan acceptable to a majority which also meets standards set by federal courts.

Sen. Jack Murphy, R-Lincoln, the president pro tem, expressed hope that "your thinking will start to jell over the weekend and that we can by mid-week or the end of the week have enacted a plan that will not be for the benefit of any party but for the benefit of the people."

Subdistricting involves dividing counties which have more than one representative — and which would be reapportioned — into areas of equal population.

One legislator would be chosen from each of the subdistricts, elected only by the voters of that subdistrict.

At present in the counties which name more than one representative, the voters elect a large, with all residents of the county eligible to vote for all.

Idaho County, for example, has nine representatives, chosen on an at-large basis. Under the subdistricting plan each would have one representative.

Strong opposition to the plan is voiced in Ada County, where five of the present eight legislators live in the same area of Boise. In any equitable subdistricting plan four of the five would lose their seats.

The present Senate is made up of one member from each of the 44 counties. A member from the smaller counties — which would have to be combined to make a district large enough to qualify for Senate under reapportionment — has indicated they will require subdistricting of the larger counties.

They contend that only by subdistricting the larger counties will the Senate be able to continue representation in a reapportioned legislature.

Helicopters Pour Marines Into War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Helicopters poured thousands of U.S. Marines into battle Saturday against the Viet Cong in the Phuoc-Vuoi Valley, 350 miles northeast of Saigon. Striking through light sniper fire, they hunted the enemy's hard core 1st Regiment. U.S. Navy fighter-bombers flew in support of the Marines. They streamed in from the carrier Valley Forge in the South China Sea. U.S. B2 jets carried the war to the Viet Cong on the other side of the country. They attacked points only two miles from the Cambodian frontier.

Humphrey Calls for Anti-Red Support

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — "The first time you retreat—before Communist aggression, Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey declared Saturday, "the first time you fold up your tents, on that day no one will ever believe in free men again." Speaking at a luncheon at which Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia was host, the U.S. traveling vice president also declared that he felt every anti-Communist nation should be represented in Viet Nam, even by as small a presence as a single doctor. If there is such a symbolic presence showing unity, he added, "the Communist juggernaut will be halted."

During the day, Holt announced the Australian government is "actively" considering increasing the number of its troops in Viet Nam. He made the statement at a joint news conference with Humphrey after the vice president met his host, the Australian prime minister, in a 20-minute reception in a move from six countries. He moved to New Zealand Sunday.

Holt said the matter of more Australian troops for the Viet Nam war is "actively under consideration," but that no final decision has been made.

"We have been considering for some time what more Australia can do in Viet Nam," Holt said. "We are considering a prime topic in their nearly three-hour discussion at Parliament House."

Both Humphrey and Holt denied Humphrey put any pressure on Australia, but it was obvious the troop situation was a hot topic in their discussion.

Police said the demonstrators, who were outside the Parliament House, were in the house with placards reading all the way from a mild "Peace for Vietnam" to a more extreme "Warmer." One said "Humphrey was criminal."

Your Spine and Your Health

By Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr
We often compare our own body mechanism with that of a watch. When a watch is run down and does not work right, we have it adjusted.
We can do the same for the human body through chiropractic adjustment.
The "main spring" which keeps the mechanism moving in human beings is the brain. The Dr. Landwehr system of "interlocking gears" to transmit vital impulses from the brain to our spinal cord.
Shock, fatigue, a fall, anyone of a hundred causes can throw the spine off balance and therefore interfere with proper functioning of nerve impulses from the brain to the other organs and parts of the body. When we are "run down" it is a symptom that, like our watches, we need "adjusting."
The chiropractic Physician corrects the distortion that has altered or obstructed the proper channeling of nerve impulses, restoring the body to the desired equilibrium.

Bobcat Killed

FAIRFIELD—John Humphreys, Corral farmer and mill owner, brought a large bobcat into Fairfield last week where it attracted much attention.

Although the bobcat was long, it was extremely thin and weighed only 22 pounds.

Humphreys stated that he found the bobcat in his garage and killed it with a .22 rifle. He said that it evidently had got into the garage in search of house cats as it had already killed some on his farm.

He said he often sees bobcats around his farm when the snow is deep. His brother, Ellsworth Humphreys, who has an adjoining farm, killed one about this time last winter in his farm shop.

NATIONAL "Good Times Influence Voters"

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — Already — less than two weeks after the Honolulu conference — reports from Saigon have drifted back to this curious hamlet of the Potomac River littoral that Air Vice Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky, the military clique face new problems in their declared intention to provide a "free" and "democratic" constitution and free elections.

There are even rumors that Ky's exclusive little regime is threatened by another coup, although Ambassador Lodge's dispatches have scoffed at them. The new prestige bestowed on Ky by the Honolulu spectacular should keep him safe for a substantial while.

Ky's chief worry seems to be the bickering among the various political factions, left splintered by successive military takeovers. There is no civilian with sufficient popular support presently available to bring the warring blocs together in the "Democratic-Building Council" charged with drafting the constitution and election machinery.

As of now, Ky is pledged to give South Vietnam a constitution by November, following its popular referendum. Elections are scheduled for sometime next year. His first job is to convince political and military interests that he means it. The Vietnamese have heard too many governments announce such plans.

On his record, however, Ky seems a good long-shot bet to accomplish what he has promised. He is only 35 and he inclines to the theatrical more than the realistic, but he and Lodge have been working together since the latter gave him his complete support to retired Maj. Gen. Edward Lansdale, who is running a rural pacification program designed to make the Viet Cong's life a hell. Lansdale has made them suspicious of the Saigon establishment.

Ky's main objective is to win the support of the U.S. military. It is no secret that Ky's military can develop itself while it is struggling it with an aggressor. But his endorsement of Lansdale's program has been enthusiastic. Ky sounds as if he wants to put the Saigon government on a legal footing, with participation by the Viet Cong, to bring the military and the politicians toward this end.

POT SHOTS

GOT IT MADE!

By BARRY SCHWEID (Marlow 5 III)
WASHINGTON (AP)—Nine years ago the Supreme Court decided so. It isn't necessarily so. Perhaps it would have been just as well if it had stopped there.
But the justices didn't. They went on to try to define obscenity. And though they have reviewed the definition, no one seems entirely satisfied, least of all the justices themselves.

The reason: The definition appears to have posed as many questions as it answered. The result: The court took on a new case of obscenity cases this year. The court is now being pressed on and a new definition may be in prospect before long.

This much is clear: unless there is a great change of heart on the bench certain-type of material will remain outside the First Amendment guarantee of free speech. And both the federal and state governments will retain the right to censor this material and to jail the publisher.

Thus, in a sense, the United States hasn't moved very far from 1972 when Massachusetts made criminal to publish any obscene or profane song, pamphlet, libel or mock sermon.

What's happened is that the material as a whole — not a passage or a page or two — must be taken into consideration.

"All ideas having even the slightest redeeming social importance" must be given the right to free expression.

Dear Pot: Sometimes I wonder if parents should go through all the scrapping and saving that necessary to put youngsters through college.

My first youngster to go to college informs us that the ultimate in entertainment at his school is to watch "Batman" on the book tube.

Is this an example of intellectual curiosity? Independent research? Escapism? (Twin Falls)

Try Everything

There are encouraging signs here and there that the nation might some day awaken to the full importance and significance of the country. Some experiments have added up the fatalities, injuries and staggering cost in property damage. It was no surprise to discover that the nation has had more than 200,000 fatalities—more than half the fatalities in this century. The toll now galloping along at the rate of about 50,000 deaths a year, should be a national shame instead of a mark of the country's progress.

It's significant that the toll has continued to climb through the years in spite of the efforts of some individuals and organizations that have been concerned and are still concerned. Without the efforts of some dedicated and alarmed individuals, a person can only wonder what the toll would have been. Certainly the campaigns and efforts have succeeded in saving some lives, although there's no way of telling how many.

Perhaps all the varied efforts have helped in some degree. Certainly it's possible to measure results of such moves as strict enforcement by comparison with lax or perhaps virtually non-existent. The value of educational efforts are difficult to determine, especially with all the factors involved. Yet no one would advocate suddenly cutting the toll to just to see what would happen. The traffic accident problem is of sufficient size and terrific cost that everything and anything must be tried.

One of the new angles in the continuing effort is an experiment in Washington during the past year. The annual meeting of traffic violators to attend a "group therapy" type of session in which violators get around to examining their own consciences. The biggest improvements in driving have been the sessions. The violators, the drivers, the 21 to 25 age bracket and the oldest group, 51 through 65—Washington was sufficiently pleased with results of the experiment to want to expand it this year. It might be noted that Washington hasn't hesitated to try everything that might be to cut the traffic toll on highways.

The highway slaughter is had enough to justify anything and everything that holds any promise of relief. Real progress will be made only when the general public wakes up to the danger and demands reduction in the highway slaughter. Until then, some of the experts may continue to rationalize the death toll by pointing to the heavy increase in the numbers of cars on highways. The statistics show that the highway slaughter each year on American highways is more than enough to kill the relatives of those who are killed. No one should settle for anything less than sharp reductions in the death toll, unless whatever means will bring that result.

LATE PROTESTS
Seldom does any taxpayer attend a budget hearing, even though all levels of local government from school districts to county public health departments are being held in advance. Perhaps citizens "don't have time" or it could be they "don't understand budgets." Yet there is no escaping that the budget hearing is the only place where a taxpayer can voice an effective protest against rising taxes. City and county budget hearings in Twin Falls have no exception to the general rule. No citizen or taxpayer showed up; no protest was voiced at the hearing. The City Commission stressed its "mild" view, which is dropping from $2.5 million. However, the city budget for 1966 is $2,094,615; last year the budget was $1,893,116. On the other hand, the County Commission made no mention of a mill levy. The County Commission approved a budget of $2,324,912 down $59,590 from last year.

Mill levies and all other technicalities to the contrary, the City of Twin Falls plans to spend $201,498 more than last year while the County Commission will spend $59,590 less. This information is available to every citizen and taxpayer well in advance of the time the various governmental units set their tax levies. There are reasons for either raising or decreasing anticipated expenditures. The fact remains that no taxpayer shows any interest at the time it would count. It does no good to be interested suddenly after the tax bill has been delivered.

Views of Others

COST OF GUNS
The concern felt by the American Ass'n for the Advancement of Science over impending cuts in U.S. federal funds for medical and scientific research has been expressed.

It is suggested in official circles in Washington that despite the mounting cost of the Viet Nam war, the U.S. is so rich it can have guns and butter. But the prospect of rising grants being cut proves this isn't necessarily so.

The world's military expenditure at present is about $146 billion, or 4.5 percent of the world's total gross output of goods and services. It is going higher and the rate of increase may accelerate sharply soon.

Only a few weeks ago, the U.S.S.R. announced an increase in its military budget of five per cent because of what it called "conditions of international danger." This brought the 1968 budget to $15 billion, or 4.5 percent of the U.S.S.R. total gross output of goods and services (although Western military experts suspect it is far more).

The U.S. military budget for 1968 is expected to go to $80 billion.

This $140 billion is of course many times the gross national products of all the newly-independent states of Africa and many of those of Asia and Latin America.

The need to divert such huge sums to the betterment of mankind was never greater but it is now even more so. The fact that any military decrease can be expected soon.

It is obvious that unrestricted proliferation of nuclear weapons will add enormously to this burden and risk. The historical course of research and advanced technology from mankind, but also clamp the conditions of life even more in many countries.

This is one of the inevitable results of the armaments race and today's armaments are ever more costly. (The Vancouver, B. C. Sun)

Capital Report

By WILLIAM RYAN

Reaction to Moscow's show trial of two writers adds up to general agreement that the Soviet leadership damaged itself by the trial. The trial was a setback for the world to see, a weakness of Communist discipline. Fear of even the breath of criticism.

Communist leaders outside the Soviet Union indicate they have been fooled and that they expect their parties to be hurt by the conviction of the two writers on charges of treason against the U.S.S.R. by publishing books abroad.

The event brings up the specter of forced labor camps, of thought control and other aspects of Stalinism which Soviet leaders had professed to reject. The prosecution attacked writers Andrei D. Sinyavsky and Yuli M. Daniel on the ascription that they served Western anti-Soviet propaganda. Between the lines, the real fear of the Soviet leaders "seems" to shine through.

Defendant Daniel got to the heart of the matter when he said that the trial was a setback for the world to see, a weakness of Communist discipline. Fear of even the breath of criticism.

Federal Tax Take in Idaho Shows Rise

BOISE (AP) — The total federal tax take in Idaho increased 3.6 per cent in 1965 and state revenue went up more than 5 per cent despite reductions in the federal income and state property taxes, the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho reported Saturday. The increase does not take into consideration enactment of the sales tax but does consider reductions in property taxes resulting from the sales tax, the association said. "The net increase in state income tax take, after refunds," said Executive Manager Max Yost, "was 30.4 per cent in 1965, somewhat more than was anticipated, and reflects the increase in the economy of the state during the last quarter of 1964 and the first quarter of 1965." In 10 years, Yost said, federal taxes have increased 97 per cent and state direct taxes have gained 125 per cent. Local property taxes went up 15 per cent.

AMERICAN FALLS — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission has adjourned their February meeting without taking action on a request by a group of citizens that the commissioner districts be reapportioned according to population.

"We have been studying the proposal but have not taken any action," said Commissioner Chairman Harold Smith.

"We don't see any advantage in doing it, and tried to tell these people that they're trying to force us to do what we've been trying to avoid all these years, in centralizing the voting power in American Falls."

A group of citizens petitioned the commissioners to redistrict, claiming that the three commissioners represent 300, 600 and 3,000 people. An 1887 Idaho statute requires county commissioners to reapportion districts at the beginning of each election year, but Power County has not done so since it was created in 1914.

COMMENTS EFFORTS — Boise (AP) — A federal official has commended Idaho's efforts to develop an overall state park plan.

Frederic Overly, regional director of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, lauded the state park board's "day right for its accomplishment" since it was formed last summer.

The board is currently working with the federal government to develop a preliminary plan to be submitted to the bureau to qualify for more federal funds.

NOMINATIONS TOLD — CALDWELL, Idaho (AP) — The nomination of a candidate for Idaho grows to a vacancy on the Idaho Potato and Onion Commission was announced to the public.

MAN CRUSHED — BLACKFOOT (AP) — Clifford Leroy Burge, 35, of American Falls was crushed Friday under the hydraulic bed of a truck. His body was found about 2:30 p.m. by a passerby. Burge had hauled a load of potato trash.

Coroner Carl Sullivan said Burge died of suffocation and internal injuries. It appeared he had crawled under the bed of the truck when it had stuck after he dumped the load.

Deputy Wendell Adams said the hydraulic bed was not working properly, and a lift was employed to free the victim.

DR. HARTUNG TALKS — BOISE (AP) — Dr. Ernest Hartung, president of the University of Idaho, said Saturday that "fantastically great slacks" proposed for the land grant system could prove crippling to his school.

The university, as a state agricultural school, obtains federal funds under the land grant system. Dr. Hartung said a "gross financial assault" on that system is contained in the current budget, submitted to Congress by President Johnson.

Dr. Hartung spoke at the annual convention of the Idaho Cattle Feeders Association.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN. — A remarkably tiny hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing nearly 70 years.

This small device, which has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a new and unusual design idea in a product to restore natural hearing.

It was developed especially for those persons who hear but can't understand. This new hearing instrument provides "full-hell" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television and radio in his ear.

Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low. The instrument weighs only 1/2 oz. It is about the size of a sewing needle—hardly noticeable yet powerful.

Students at Buhl Raise Heart Funds

BUHL—A contribution of $263.50, a memorial for Ricky McCoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max McCoy, Buhl, was presented to the local Heart Fund drive by "Buhl Junior" High School students.

This is the largest single contribution to date, according to Mrs. William Doody and Mrs. Myron Thompson, local Heart Fund campaign co-chairmen.

The students raised the money by doing odd jobs. They collected scrap iron and pop bottles and conducted an auction with faculty members auctioned off as slaves. Bringing in one of the largest bids was Darrell Surber, principal, who was auctioned off for $3.50.

The junior high school students were highly commended for this citizenship project and in recognition of their time and efforts a plaque will be presented at the school on Monday by Mrs. Doody on behalf of the Heart Fund.

Other activities relative to the Heart drive included a blanket toss at the high school basketball game and the selling of balloons in the business district on Saturday. Volunteer workers have been canvassing the residential area in house to house solicitations. Mrs. Doody and Mrs. Thompson assisted by Key Club members are soliciting the business district.

WENDELL—Wendell Masonic Lodge No. 4 will observe Washington's birthday anniversary with potluck dinner for all Masons, Eastern Star members and their guests at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the temple dining room.

Ray Turner, general chairman, asks all those attending to bring food and table service for themselves and guests. There will be a program after the dinner.

Three Incumbents Are Retained by Ida Gem Dairymen at Annual Meet

JEROME—Robert Burks, John P. Edwards and Carl Leonard, incumbent directors, were re-elected at the 51st annual Ida Gem Dairymen, Inc., meeting held Friday in the firm's auditorium.

They represent the Wendell Hagerman, Lincoln County and Twin Falls District.

F. M. Norton, secretary of the National Milk Producers' Federation, stated in his address to the stockholders, "Now while the economy is booming at home is a good time to do research in the whole field of dairy exports and imports. Now also is the time to evaluate new approaches to our basic dairy programs such as price support and distribution efforts."

In this connection he reported that on Feb. 10, the President directed the Secretary of Agriculture to buy limited amounts of dairy products under the new open market purchase law, stating that the program would be strengthened by allowing a single cooperative, or federated group, to speak on behalf of all farmers supplying a market once it reaches a majority position on the market.

He concluded his address with the statement, "The greatest disadvantage that cooperatives face at present is that they underwrite the cost of improving and maintaining a market for all dairy farmers while the non-members take a free ride."

Harvard Scranton presented the auditors report to the stockholders.

R. Lyons Smith, general manager, told the members that milk receipts were lower for 1965 than 1964. He stated that this reflects a general reduction of milk production in this area, and, of course, tends to affect the efficiency of the operation because of the lower volume.

Smith said, "The volume is down 5 1/2 per cent but the prices are higher and the prospects for 1966 look bright."

Lloyd Blake, chairman of the board of directors, presented the invocation.

James P. George, general manager, Challenge Cream and Butter Assn., Los Angeles, had been scheduled to speak but was unable to attend the meeting.

Hospitalized

HAILEY—Mrs. George McGonigal is a patient at the Blaine County hospital where she is receiving treatment.

Mrs. Margaret Wise is recuperating at the Blaine County Hospital after a heart attack she incurred last week while at her work at the First Security Bank.

CHIEF DIES

ELMO, Mont.—(AP)—Baptist Nathias, 87, last chief of the Kootenai Tribe, died Saturday after an extended illness.

Former Resident, 90, Dies in L. A.

Walter Thomas Combs, 90, former Twin Falls resident, died Wednesday in Los Angeles.

He was born May 22, 1875. He and his wife, Mrs. Luella Lindsay Combs, moved to Twin Falls from Illinois in 1912 and had lived here until he retired in the early 50s and moved to California. Mrs. Combs died in 1954.

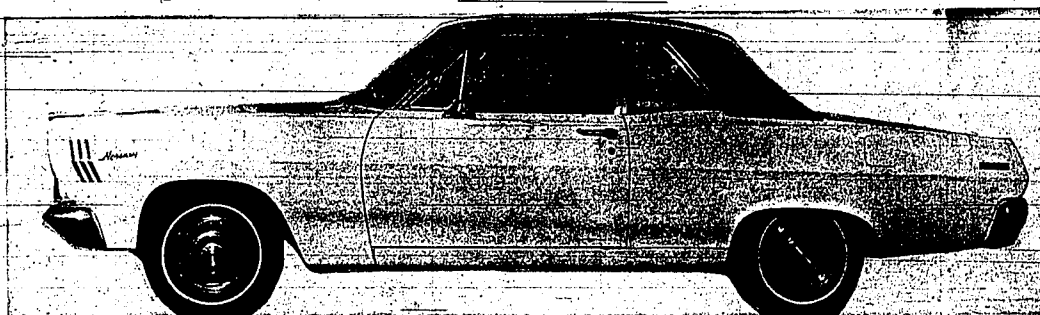

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. Monday in Englewood Park Cemetery Mortuary Chapel, Englewood, Calif.

EDWIN C. WOODS, airport manager in Twin Falls, inspects new lettering on one of the scores of private planes based at Joslin Field. A new regulation requiring lettering on the side of all fixed-wing aircraft went into effect the first of this year. Woods reports that at the field in Twin Falls he knows of no planes not having the numbers in the required location. In fact, some now have numbers in several locations. (Times-News photo)

One Problem Leads to Another As Filthy Lucre Goes It's Way

Most people are trying to get their hands on some money—it can be just about as bad. Even those "crisp" bills, which many call green stuff, is dirty. Sometime even the color of the bills rubs off on the hands of the person doing the counting. But the trouble isn't always with the paper. It also comes to them, really get around. In getting around they pick up a lot of dirt and when you count them they leave it on your hands. "People who spend the day counting money—usually some one else—say that a "hand washing" break is as welcome to them as a coffee break is to practically anyone else. "I wash my hands more than a doctor does," laughs Mrs. Ola Cannon, chief teller in the Fidelity National Bank, Twin Falls.

"She is typical of all people who handle large sums of money. It gets to it is just another task—but the dirty hands are the same in all cases. Getting back to that matter of counting coins, there has been a change in recent years which is beneficial to those who seek clean hands. The automatic counters do the work and handling the coins is at a minimum. But the green stuff still has to be handled by hand and apparently will have to be for some time to come. The situation is not all lost. Dirty hands benefit the city because of the water used to wash those hands. City-water costs money. Then, too, there are the concerns which manufacture soap. They get a little bit out of each handwash too. In fact they make money from dirty money. The towels, whether paper or cloth, also are needed. The laundry, or supplier, benefits. It is an ill wind that blows nobody good, so the old saying goes. There is another saying, too, that could go right along with this dirty money story. Jackie Gleason says it all the time and it is always good for a laugh. The saying is—"How sweet it is!"

PEOPLE WHO THINK the term "filthy lucre" is just a term have another think coming. It might also be that they have never handled much money—which is the more refined name for lucre. Mrs. Ola Cannon, chief teller at the Fidelity National Bank in Twin Falls, knows there is more truth than poetry to the expression. Handling money can be a dirty job. She had just finished counting out a stack of paper money and assorted change when this picture was taken. It can be noted that, although she is all smiles about the whole thing, her hands are dirty. # Universe Has Less Matter Than Believed

PASADENA, Calif., op—Discovery that the universe has far less matter than presumed—a major surprise which may profoundly alter scientific thinking about its age and structure—was announced Thursday by the California Institute of Technology. Studies of light from quasars—the most distant objects yet observed—show there is only one millionth of the amount of invisible gas and dust previously thought likely in the great spaces between clusters of galaxies, the institute said. Theoretical models of the universe have assumed there was a (Continued on Page 23)

FORMER REQUIREMENTS of placing identification numbers on planes called for them to be on the under surface of the left wing, as shown in this picture, and the top surface of the right wing. New regulations call for numbering in letters 12 inches high on vertical tail surfaces or the sides of the fuselage. Because most private planes have small tail surfaces, the side of the fuselage is about the only place where there is enough room for the numbers. Edwin Woods looks at the wing markings which formerly met requirements. (Times-News photo)

TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1966

Aircraft Based at Joslin Field Meet Requirements Under New Regulations

There are some places in the nation where new requirements for placing identification numbers on fixed-wing airplanes are lagging behind schedule, but this is not the case at the Twin Falls airport. Edwin C. Woods, Joslin Field manager, told the Times-News he "knows" no aircraft operating from the field here which are not meeting the new regulations. In the "old days" of flying it was necessary that the nationality and registration numbers of such aircraft be put on the wings. The rule was for such numbers to be on the lower surface of the left wing and the upper surface of the right wing. They could also appear on the "Whipper" or rudder of the craft. Now, all that is past history. The numbers now must be 12 inches high and must appear on both sides of the fuselage. They can also appear on the vertical tail surfaces, but so far as small, personal aircraft are concerned, this space usually is not large enough for the 12-inch lettering. As a result of the new ruling, there are some aircraft which have the registration numbers in six places. To meet the old requirements they are noted on the lower surface of the left wing, the upper surface of the right wing and on the right and left side of the rudder in addition to the new requirement on both sides of the fuselage. There numbered areas, however, will gradually be reduced as the planes are refueled or repaired. The new planes being manufactured will have the fuselage identifications. When the regulation was first suggested, about six years ago, there was a "howl" of indignation from plane owners, especially those who had company planes. It was the practice to paint the company name on each side of the fuselage. The new numbers made it practically impossible to do this and so an advertising spot to the pilots contented, lost to all concerned. The new requirement has been brought to the attention of Western region pilots by Joseph H. Tippetts, a director of the Federal Aviation Agency. "Although the regulations were adopted about six years ago," he wrote pilots and base operators, "they did not become mandatory until Jan. 1 of this year—all new aircraft already have the required markings, as do those which have been rebuilt, repainted or refinished within the past four years. However, many older aircraft are not properly marked. People extensive publicity in the aviation press on this matter, many aircraft owners and operators still may be unaware of these regulations." This situation, Woods said, is apparently not the case at the local field. "All planes out here are properly marked to meet regulations," he commented. "We have a very active group of pilots operating from this field and they keep up with the regulations as required." One of the older pilots, dis-

New Display for Local Museum Being Prepared

Operating a museum is more than just a matter of throwing something under it and then throwing open the door to the general public. For instance, at the Arts and Science Museum on "Timberly Road" in Twin Falls, Norman Herrett, founder, has just announced start of a project which will see various new displays ready for showing next fall. In other words, the complete job will take an estimated six months or more. Herrett said that one of the subjects planned for display next fall is that of paper and early America, dating back to the time before the arrival of Columbus. At the same time, the museum will be announcing association with the museum, "volunteer" role researcher, of Lynn Langdon, Bohl. In a month long trip it is pointed out that Mr. Bohl, Langdon's tour of areas to the south resulted in finding essential tools and uncovering much information on early paper-making. Included with several other avenues of search, this trip required several thousand miles of travel following various leads to the source. Herrett, searching a different section of Central America, including the Aztecs, was able to find additional tools and fragments of the actual paper. In the museum portion of the science center, the founder is now relieved of the time-consuming operation and the financial burden of obtaining items related to the early culture of the Americas. His contribution to the knowledge offered for public benefit can now go towards interpreting and presenting items in such a manner that information can be grasped at a glance in order to arouse the curiosity of the viewer. "Museums of the future will recognize that the true giants in archeology are not the large buildings, statues and art, but things such as paper, writing, food, communication, medicines, machines and—engineering," Herrett said. He pointed out that paper making is the same as weaving, using the same ancient tools and technique, may be seen in the museum in the spring when the current display season ends and the new show for next school year is installed. "Most of the old display material will be retired for a period of at least two years before it is replaced," Herrett said. "Displays now in the process of being constructed can be seen at the present time at anytime." He also announced that the talent of an artist, Melissa DAW, will be seen depicting the knowledge presented. He urges frequent trips to the museum "because it is not a building full of unrelated curiosities as found in many museums." "This museum is attempting to bring adventure and knowledge of the Americas to this valley," he pointed out. "With Mr. Langdon on the staff we can be assured of a constant new and true source of wonder of the Americas rotating with the full house the museum now forms." "It is our desire that the people can have a first-hand acquaintance with the native American as he was before Columbus, at the same time having the opportunity to keep up with space-adventure of the modern day through use of the planetarium and observatory. "The valley has had this planetarium and observatory for 12 years. The museum is in its infancy, being only four years old. The science complex has served more than 6,000 students during the last fall run, all under very crowded conditions. More room and help must be found." Herrett said that the planetarium and observatory will be open for shows starting in April and ending in December. He added that groups of 40 or more may secure appointments for showings after April 1. The museum is open at any time during store hours.

Materials displayed are the work of

EXHIBITARY COMPLEX

JEROME SCHOOL CHILDREN were honored by having a colorful display of their work shown at the Idaho state capital in Boise for two weeks. The layout, displayed by children of the Lincoln complex, was supervised by Mrs. Helen DeCourney, district elementary art supervisor, with cooperation of teachers. Students from Appleton and Lincoln elementary schools make up the Lincoln complex. Appreciation to the students and teachers was expressed by Ruth Markham, consultant in the State Department of Education, for their participation.

Life in Magic Valley

"Anybody for a snappy game of checkers?"

The newly carpeted floor in the family room of the Deaver James home, HEZBURN, slightly resembles an overgrown checker table. The only difference is that the squares are a variety of colors instead of a usual red and black, and the children themselves can jump as players instead of moving the small wooden checkers.

The 15 by 26-foot family room is covered with about 35 yards of nylon carpet samples, which are glued to the concrete floor with linoleum adhesive. James said he glued the samples down instead of sewing them down "because when one square gets too worn, it can be pulled up and replaced with a new one."

The room was fully carpeted in the unique manner at a complete cost of $73, estimated to be less than one-half the cost of having a roll.

When the James family purchased the house last year, it suited their taste, with the exception it didn't have a family room. They later converted a cement floored carport on the southeast corner of the house into a family room.

They decorated the walls with wood paneling accented by pictures painted by James. The picture frames he made were cut from two-by-four sized wood and sawed with a dull blade giving an antique effect.

The family purchased a used heavy wooden dining room set and James recovered the chair seats in an attractive shade of blue-green.

James, a rural mail carrier, previously had the trade of carpenter. His father, the late George James, was a well-known violin maker. At one time the elder James made a violin out of toothpicks, which his grandchildren remember actually worked (that is until the glue came loose).

Most everything around the James household has a touch of time developed talent on it. James enjoys this type of hobby but finds it can become quite time consuming.

Last year the family made a patio out of rock designed a four-leaf clover effect. The rock design was given a rich appearance by a flowering rose garden.

The family enjoys doing things together and tries to make everything a family project. Mrs. James commented that the family is usually so busy studying and learning new things that they find very little time for television.

They seem to continually make efforts to develop given talents. The children, Deaver, Jr., 17, Deanna, 14, Michael, 11, and Susan, 9, all play the piano. Six-year-old Nancy plans to take piano lessons next year.

The last project was a hand decorated baby crib for little Teresa, who was born Jan. 22. Mrs. James had a "limited" amount of space in her bedroom for the baby bed, so James constructed a smaller sized one of mahogany plywood and ponderosa pine. Building the crib was a "snap" compared to finding a mattress to fit it.

James and his wife cut down a crib mattress which they had used for the older children and made it over to "fit" the crib. The mattress was a "leftover" from the other children and although it was over 17 years old, it is still in good condition.

The James children sanded and painted the attractive scalloped designed crib and helped with other preparations for the new family member.

Each member of the family takes turns entertaining the others.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

A word of caution seems to be in order. Recently I was asked to look at a group of coins which, while not really scarce, were nevertheless worth considerably more than face value. The owner, through a mistaken idea that he could make them look uncirculated, had cleaned the entire lot with some commercial preparation which is advertised for the purpose.

Of course, what he actually did was decrease the value of the more valuable pieces by about 50 per cent. Never clean a coin. Its value lies in the patina that age has laid upon it, and except in extreme cases, if you clean it, you lose its value.

Sometimes copper coins become corroded, and in order to keep the corrosion from eating deep into the metal, it is necessary to remove it. If you must clean coins, use xylol, which is obtainable at drug stores. Xylol will remove the dirt from a coin—but remember that you cannot make any old coin look new again, with any preparation. A worn coin is still worn, even when you remove the color from it.

In answer to a number of people who have written asking the same question: Holes in coins generally ruin them for collector's items. Unless the coin was very rare, a hole in it removes it from the collectible class.

Years ago it was the general practice to use coins for decorations, so that today we find many of them defaced in this manner. Very few collectors will pay any premium for such a coin, although there are a few experts in the country who can fill such holes and make the coin look quite good.

However, no matter how well dry, you will be surprised how much improvement you can make in the appearance of a piece of money.

You are advised to practice the job may be, microscopic examination will always reveal it.

A third question which is quite frequently asked has to do with the values placed on paper money. As a general rule, it must be assumed that a bill which is worn, ragged, or much-folded has lost its collectible value. While coin collectors have several grades from which to choose (good, very good, fine, extremely fine, uncirculated, and so on) the reverse is generally true with paper money collectors.

As a yardstick to use, the finest grade, that is, crisp and uncirculated, will command a premium price. The value drops considerably if the bill has seen much circulation, and if it is a few cents over face value to a collector. One in the instances where the bill is one of a very few in existence, can you expect much over face value for a worn bill?

If you have a piece of paper money which you suspect may be valuable, either now or in the future, do not fold it—place it flat between the pages of a heavy book so that it will retain whatever crispness it may have.

It is possible to wash paper money, given the necessary knowledge. Paper money has a high rag content. At one time practice to use coins for decorations, so that today we find many of them defaced in this manner. Very few collectors will pay any premium for such a coin, although there are a few experts in the country who can fill such holes and make the coin look quite good.

Family pictures are interesting and often amusing. This is especially true as the pictures grow older and comparisons are made between now and then.

I recall such a family portrait taken over 25 years ago. Oora was a large family and we were all assembled around our parents. As we look back on that picture and note changes and a kaleidoscope of on a bill which has no value, other than face, to start with. Paper money may be ironed, also, to flatten it and restore crispness, but it takes considerable experience. In the case of older money, which was hand signed with pen and ink, you may remove the signatures by washing, so be extremely careful.

Group Pictures

circumstances, emotions range from a chuckle of amusement to waves of nostalgia.

The New Testament gives us several group pictures of the Christian life as it is lived in community and fellowship. They emphasize certain great truths and ideas. One of these most certainly is that conversion to Christ and the Christian faith means entry into a life of togetherness, both with God and with man.

One of these group pictures presents the Christian fellowship as that of a shepherd, Jesus Christ; sheep, the Christians; and the fold, a place of gathering, and feeding and protection. Out of this relationship we have learned to say, "The Lord is my shepherd I shall not want."

Another group picture represents our fellowship as that of vine and branches. Again Jesus says "I am the vine, ye are the branches." He presents God as the husbandman that prunes and cultivates. The point of this picture is fruitfulness in which fruit is borne to the glory of God, the husbandman. This fellowship is to be fruitful. Then we have the group picture presented in terms of a body with its members. Christ the head, we the hands, the feet, the ears, the eyes and the mouth, set together for the display of purpose of functioning under the direction of Christ.

"Now you are Christ's body, and each of you a limb or organ of it." There are many more of these group pictures. There is that one of the house and the stones of which it is built. Another is that of a household and the family and the members of it. But all of them remind us of the word of the psalmist, "God setteth the solitary in families."

It is in such a relationship that goals and objectives are achieved; that there is effectiveness and perpetuation. Herein is the joy and the blessedness of relationship.

A KISS for the new Valentine queen is bestowed upon Glenna Tipton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Tipton, by Danny Kimball, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kimball, after the heart-decorated crown had been placed upon her head by Holland (Holly) Houfburg, master of ceremonies. ## Little Miss Valentine Is Chosen At Pageant Sponsored by Jay-C-Eltes

BY MARJORIE LIERMAN
FILER — While background music played softly, the curtains opened and the first of 20 small contestants stepped upon the stage and paraded down a red and white covered ramp.

Before an audience of doing parents and grandparents, each miniature Miss America displayed her charms and smiled prettily for the judges while everyone wondered who would be named "Miss Valentine 1966."

Scene of the pageant was the Filer High School Auditorium where choosing Miss Valentine is an annual social event for the local nursery set. Sponsored by the Jay-C-Eltes, the proceeds from the show go toward projects of the Filer Summer Recreation Program.

High point of the pageant is the crowning of Little Miss Valentine when the year's winner is handed a bouquet of red roses and ascends a heart-covered throne where a crown is placed upon her head by Holland (Holly) Houfburg, who "emceed" the performance. This year's winner was Glenna Tipton, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Tipton.

Theme of the pageant was "When You Wish Upon a Star," and focal point of the stage was a large silver and white star hung with an array of necklaces from which each contestant

"THIS LITTLE PIG WENT TO MARKET," exclaims Tamara Allen as she holds a large drawing she has made to illustrate the well-known nursery rhyme. Each little girl was asked to recite a poem, sing a song, or do some other talent act. ## World Day of Prayer Services Set in T-F

Preparations have been completed for the annual observance of World Day of Prayer, under sponsorship of the United Church Women.

The Twin Falls Council of United Church Women has arranged for the observance to be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Valley Christian Church. Mrs. Charles Bower and Mrs. Forrest Hibbard are in charge of the program. The theme is "You are My Witnesses."

The opening service features women from the various participating churches and the speaker of the afternoon is Elsie Bostinger, Indianapolis, Ind. All local women are urged to attend his worthwhile and inspirational meeting. Mrs. Ivan Squires is soloist and Mrs. Dale Thompson is pianist.

World Day of Prayer had its beginning in 1887. On the first Friday of Lent, which falls this year on Feb. 25, thousands of Christians around the world will be united in a service of prayer and thanksgiving. These services will be given in 60 languages and 1,000 dialects. The first services will be held on the Tonga Islands, located just west of the International Date Line.

Throughout the day, observances will be held in 145 countries on six continents, ending with the observance on St. Lawrence Island, Alaska.

The purpose of the World Day of Prayer is to unite all Christians, regardless of denominational affiliations, in a bond of prayer, to pray for all the peoples of the world.

In 1947, the various women's groups who began the observance merged with the United Church Women and the World Day of Prayer was assigned to this new body. An offering is taken each year and the proceeds are interdenominational. Most of the projects are continued each year, but there is one for overseas and one within the United States each year that is varied and timely.

The two special projects for DISCUSSING FINAL PREPARATIONS for the annual World Day of Prayer observance are, from left, Mrs. Charles Bower, chairman; Mrs. Forrest Hibbard, committee member; and Mrs. U. N. Terry, publicity chairman for the United Church Women.

1966 are training for lay persons and professional workers within the United States, and lay training centers and study centers in Asia, Africa and Latin America. The offering will help Christians witness to their faith both individually and corporately in all of life, both at home and abroad.

Ongoing projects include the migrant-ministry work among Indian-Americans, providing hospitality and port of entry assistance for international students in our nation, and the Christian World Missions program of United Church Women. The World Day of Prayer is one of the outstanding achievements of Christians who are determined to witness in a United way to keep their oneness in Christ.

took her pick when she made her first entrance.

For the first event, the latest in swim suit fashions for the younger generation was shown with Karen Erickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Eggleston, as a model winner in that division.

As each contestant paraded on the stage, her measurements were given by the master of ceremonies. Typical of the small bathing beauties was Jody King, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry King, who tips the scales at 29 pounds and measures 18-19-20.

Even bikini swimsuits were displayed with a fetching yellow and white one being worn by Tracy Jo Lancaster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lancaster, as one of the youngest contestants, since she is only 1 1/2 years old, and all of two feet, nine inches tall.

Surprising composure was shown by most of the small models although a few of the very youngest showed reluctance to appear and had to be given a helping hand by Susan Schweitzer, last year's Miss Valentine. All the winners and nerves were backstage where worried mothers tried to keep small dresses smooth, hair curled and shoes laced. A plentiful supply of soda crackers and all day suckers served as "pacifiers."

Musical during intermission was played by Susan Rork and Diane Rork who played violin and guitar selections. The Four Counts, a boys' quartet composed of Gary Allen, Michael Sheridan, Dennis Aslett and Glenn Paige, also entertained, and Gene Harwell was soloist.

Final event was the dress review when each small model showed off her best party dress, complete with hair bows, party shoes and white gloves. Tamara Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Allen, has a plan for a white carnation corsage pinned on the shoulder of her full-skirted blue nylon dress. The review was a big success and the father for her sixth birthday anniversary which she observed that day.

Kin Bulley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bulley, wore a red velvet dress with ribbon sash and modeled the very latest in upswing hairdos with black curls caught into a chignon in the back.

Debbie Herrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Herrett, received the "Miss Dress" title in a brilliant red nylon dress with matching red knee-socks and hair bows.

Each contestant was asked to display some kind of talent during the dress review, and although many of the tiniest girls promptly forgot everything they had been taught when the stage faced the audience, each was given a vigorous round of applause, nevertheless.

The 4, 5 and 6-year-olds responded with a variety of entertainment ranging from a song "Me and My Teddy Bear" by Susan Tipton, an illustrated version of the "Three Little Pigs" by Tamara Allen, to a spirited tap dance and singing solo by Sally Isham.

Gena Fouts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Fouts, later named first runner-up, recited a prayer as her talent, and Ellen Brown, in a blue and white dress, sang through a microphone verses and choruses of the enchanting "Superkalifragilisticexpialidocious" song from Mary Poppins. Tammi Kim Bladen sang "Jesus Loves Me" and Debbie Herrett recited a poem.

Following the crowning of the queen, gifts were presented to her and to the other winners.

RECEIVING HER GIRL SCOUT pin from Mrs. Bart Silver, Junior Girl Scout leader, is Cindy Greenwalt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Greenwalt. Miss Greenwalt was led across the bridge by Becky Brooks, Junior Girl Scout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Brooks. Nine girls received their Girl Scout pins at the ceremony at Pioneer Hall. (Times-News photo)

Theresa Ann Brown, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brown, was named "Miss Personality" and Elizabeth Pickett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Pickett, received second runner-up title.

Scene-stealer of the entire show was Ginger Renee Mock, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Webster, who endeavored herself to all the contestants and the whole audience by her willingness to assist each of her tiny competitors. Wearing a red and white dress and looking very much like a small-entire, she wandered on and off the stage in a most unbecoming manner, conversing with the audience and helping her little friends find their seats on the dais.

Other contestants in the program included Tina Marie Ritchie, Marie Peterson and Tina Hansen, all under 3 years of age, and Kellie Tipton, under 6 years.

Mrs. Kenneth Kimball, chairman of the event, presented an appreciative letter of thanks and introduced the other members of her committee who were Mrs. Russell Sheridan Jr., Mrs. Joyce Steinhilb, Mrs. Richard Shelton, Mrs. Ardean Lang and Mrs. Raymond Campbell.

Also introduced were the five judges, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fields, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell McRoberts and Dave Monroe, all built. These individuals admitted that judging a contest and selecting only a few from 20 adorable contestants can be a shaking event. After checking and rechecking ballots and finally choosing winners, the five judges bravely recited the audience and took their seats while their decisions were announced.

Besides the trophies awarded the winners, they were given a number of gifts donated by local businessmen. The tiny queen was carried through the stage in the arms of her proud grandfather, Edward Baker, and all the other tired and happy little finalists were taken home. So ended another year's pageant.

Jay-C-Ettes members have a number of projects by which they raise money through the year for worthy and community

HAH! THE NAILS MAKE THE BLOWOUT! THE CAR, SHE IS WRECKED! NOW WE FIND MY BEAUTIFUL JUN, AND THE YANKEE PIG!

CONGRATULATIONS, PARTNER! YOU FOUND US! NOW PUT UP YOUR HANDS!

NOW ONE OF YOU HELP JUN INTO YOUR CAR! YOU'RE GOING TO DRIVE US TO THE BORDER!

IMPOSSIBLE! THE BORDER, SHE IS GUARDED LIKE THE HAREM OF A GULFAN!

I'VE GOT A SUITCASE FULL OF COFFEE, YOPFF! JUST THINK THE PRICE I'D BRING ON THE BLACK MARKET!

YOU CANNOT MAKE THE BRIBE WITH A SERVANT OF THE PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC!

WELL, IF YOU WON'T HELP, I'LL DELIVER YOU TO THE COMMISSAR! YOU'D LOOK PRETTY FOOLISH GETTING KIDNAPED BY US AND---

WAIT! MY CAREER, SHE IS SOMETHING TO THINK OF!

I AM PRACTICAL. I TAKE YOU TO THE BORDER--BUT GETTING ACROSS IS THE PROBLEM YOU MUST SOLVE!

OKAY, PARTNER, AND WHEN WE GET THERE, YOU GET THE COFFEE!

LEAVE THE ROAD AND FOLLOW THE RIDGE, SERGEANT!

THE ELECTRIC CHARGE OF THE FENCE WILL GET THEM IF THE MINE FIELD DOES NOT!

I DON'T TRUST HIM, JOE!

HE'S NOT MUCH TO TRUST, BUT THERE'S NO OTHER CANDIDATE, KITTEN!

DID YOU WIN ANY MEDALS WHEN YOU SKATED IN THE OLYMPICS, UNCLE AMOS?

FAW, ALVIN! OF COURSE I WON. BUT A TRUE SPORTSMAN CARES LITTLE FOR SUCH BAUBLES! EGAD, ONCE I DEFEATED A THREE-TIME CHAMPION FROM HELSINKI!
